A Small Farm Well Tilled.

We clip the following wide and timely article from one of the best agricultural periodicals published in this or any other country—the Southern Cultivator.

"At the close of the Revolutionary War the American farmer was the finest of the globe. By subsequent purchase this has been troubled. Had they preserved it for their children, a thousand generations would scarcely fill it. But unwisely, in my opinion, in the name of philanthropy, we invited the inhabitants of every country to come and help us occupy it.

"Our system of farming has been equally visionary and prodigal. What we could not give away we have made haste to destroy. We have cleared the land of its fine timber, and cultivated the rich soil in such a slovenly manner that it has washed away. We still march Westward, destroying as we go, and leaving behind us a desert of worn out fields, cut up by gullies, and red with clay banks. Nature, to hide our crime, covers them over as soon as she can with briar and pine-bushes.

"Heretofore, a hand was expected to cultivate 25 to 30 acres; but he never did it, otherwise than to scratch over it as to wear it out and cause it to wash away in 8 or 10 years. Ten to fifteen acres—and ten better than fifteen—are as much as any hand can cultivate properly.

"Select your land so as to get all the natural advantages you can, and as soon as cleared and fenced, have it properly ditched, the hill sides by horizontal ditching, and the wet or seepy parts by covered ditches. Remember, this requires no little skill and experience, and the so ditches are expected to be permanent. There is no sense in spending money, time and labor to put manure on land, when the next rain will wash it away, or when the soil will your manure will sour or seep away.

"Your next step is to manure. David Dickson, the most successful planter of Georgia, uses a commercial manure entirely, but these cost money in advance, which every farmer does not have. George W. Gift, the most successful gardener of Tennessee, says:—

"Make your own manures, from your stables, cow lots, hog pens, swamp muck, &c. As I have elsewhere said, in speaking of the two systems of these distinguished men, truth lies not in extremes, but in a happy medium. When the land abounds in the necessary salts, the manure should be made as Mr. Gift says. If there is vegetable manure without a proper admixture of salts, these should be supplied by purchase as practiced by Mr. D., but if the land is deficient in both, a proper blending of the two will prove best. This may be done by buying the requisite salts and putting them on the compost heap, so as to mix them with the other ingredients, or by scattering them on the ground in the Spring, and supplying the vegetable manure by a green crop to be grown during Summer, and turned under. The green crops will be greatly increased by putting them on in Spring. Green crops should be turned under while flowering, and before seeding; besides, if your green crop consists of weeds and grass, you destroy them by preventing their seeding.

"In England, the tenant is required to follow, as they call it, one-third of the land. This is done by plowing it well in the Spring, which greatly increases the green crop, and turning it under while in bloom in the after part of the year.

"I have improved portions of my farm by turning my cows on the corn spots which lie well and plowing it over every two or three weeks. When I get that spot as rich as I desire, I move the cows. I am particular to have every cow penned. During the Winter I feed them in the pen. I also fat my hogs on my cultivable lands.

"Many, rather than carry their water, make their lots on a branch, where all their droppings, and the coes, which are the best of manure, wash away. They place their horse lots in the same way. No thrifty farmer will do that.

"Deep and thorough tillage will in a great measure compensate for want of ditching manuring and uplands. Where the land is thoroughly and deeply plowed, the rain, instead of running off, carrying the soil, will filter through it, leaving more or less richness. During Summer, the roots of vegetables will penetrate deep in search of moisture, and in dying will become manure, so that in process of time the land will be come rich as deep as it is plowed.

"New lands should be plowed up as deep and soon as possible, so as to mix and save the virgin soil with that below. Old land, which has not been plowed deep, I prefer to work thus:—The first year, run a turning plow 5 inches deep, and a sub-soil plow 4 inches deeper; in this drill your manure, and then bed on it by plowing out the middles in the same way. The second year run your turning plow 6 inches deep, in the middle furrow of last year's row, and your sub-soil 5 inches deep over. The third year, run your turning plow eight inches deep in the same furrow, and your sub-soil 6 inches deep over, applying your manure as the first year. Each year you will thus have worked it as deep as your manure and the soil will justify, and have saved the useless labor and that very hard-of-working up the useless clay. After the Spring floods are over, one deep, thorough plowing, while your crop is small, should be given. This will loosen what has been packed by the rain, and pulverize and mix the soil. After this, the plowing should be very shallow. The crop, no matter what it is, should be worked very carefully, so as not to choke or cover it, when small, with the dirt, or break or bruise it. Cultive and my white men seem to have very little sympathy for young corn and cotton, and not much more when larger, and work it in such a manner as to do it nearly as much harm as good. A proper stand is of the first importance. Where it is too thick there will, in turn, be a great many barren stalks, and three which have ears will have small ones. On the other hand if you have a bad stand, your work you land for nothing.

"Discard forever all idea of moving, and plant your stakes for life. Be not unsettled by this and that fine tale about good countries. The good country is ever, like the rainbow, in the distance. There is no place without obstructions this side of Heaven. Select a suitable piece of ground near your house, and commence at once an orchard and vineyard. Get the best acclimated peaches, apples, &c., and the Scuppernon grape. Let amateurs alone—Don't forget the garden and a spot for flowers. If you are prudent and industrious, you will learn God has given us a better world than we gave him credit for.

"Persevere mankind, whose will's created free, Charge all their woes on absolute decree; All to the dooming gods their guilt translate, And folies they mislead the crimes of fate.

"Whatever stock you get, get it of the best quality, even at a high price. It will be the cheapest in the end. Good stock will cost no more than bad. Never forget that they are flesh and blood, and that there is a limit to their strength and endurance. God gave us these creatures for our benefit, and we should treat them kindly in gratitude to Him. The merciful man is kind even to his brute. There is no comparison in the value and amount of service to which it is done, on a poor weakly animal and a fat full one. The mule when well treated, will perform good service to 20 or 25 years of age. Bucephalus carried Alexander in military campaigns until he was 30—There is no better evidence of a good or bad man than the condition of his stock, not of a good or bad farmer.

AN ATTEMPT TO HARMONIZE.—A meeting of prominent Radicals and Southern Observers was held a few nights since, which was intended to be private until a her meetings of a similar character should be held. It has, however, leaked out that there were present about forty persons, including Gen. Fremont, Col. Forney, Congressman Cooke, M. Crill and Morehead, General Longstreet, and Ridgewood and Harbour, of Virginia, and Col. Duncan of Ky., and several Southern Senators. The object of the gathering was an interchange of views, toward harmonizing the people of the two sections.

Forney said the time had arrived for the exercise of a wise and magnanimous legislative policy toward the South so as to bring that people into full accord and brotherhood, and he avowed his intention to devote his energies to this great purpose. Fremont invoked heartily his views, and others spoke in a similar strain. Forney's conservatism has surprised his friends, who are mostly the extreme Radicals.

GEN. JOHN H. FORNEY.
We have not heretofore mentioned the unfortunate illness of this gentleman, supposed to be apprehended by a wound received in the war, which has thrown a feeling of gloom and sadness over our entire community, because we had hoped that it would be of short duration. But such had been the violence of his paroxysms, that by the advice of his physician, and at his own request in lucid intervals, his relatives last week consented to take him to the Lunatic Asylum at Nashville. We now learn from his brother, Capt. D. P. Forney, who has returned, that the principal physician of that institution has pronounced it a case of acute insanity, and expressed the confident hope that it could be relieved in a few months.

The St. Clair Eagle of the 20th ult. makes some comments on, and takes exceptions to the course Judge Woods has thought proper to pursue in revoking his order designating that paper as the official organ for the publication of legal advertisements for Calhoun County, and the appointment of the Republican in its stead. We care nothing for any opinion that paper may either entertain or express, as to the Republican or its politics, and for that cause alone, should not refer to the subject; but we think its strictures come with a bad grace, under the circumstances, upon the course Judge Woods has felt it his duty to pursue. The law makes it the duty of Judges of Probate to decide the question, and not interested newspapers; and where there is a newspaper in the county, which comes clearly within the provision of the act, to select it first, and then the next nearest. In selecting the Republican, Judge Woods has not only complied with the law, as expressed in his opinion making the change, but also with the obligations of his official oath, to protect the interests of widows and orphans committed to his charge, as well as all other persons interested in legal notices and sales; and in so doing, his conduct in the premises will be approved by all such, without a single exception. He has had too long an experience in the discharge of official duty to be dictated to by a village newspaper less than six months old.

We make these remarks, not with any desire to provoke controversy, but simply as an act of justice to Judge Woods. Knowing the anxiety of our readers to see the President's Inaugural Address, we have kept our paper back until Saturday morning. We now present them with it, but have not time or room for comment. We can only say now, that with the general tone and drift of the address we are well pleased. If the promises therein made and implied, to administer the government with justice and equity, and without party or sectional prejudice, are faithfully carried out, our country cannot be far from that state of cordial union, harmony and restored prosperity which the president seems so ardently to desire. We like to hear him talk of the full restoration of civil law in all parts of the country, the national honor, the revival of trade and restored prosperity. These objects cannot be accomplished while the government is administered solely in the interest of a party, or the stronger section is permitted to proscribe and oppress the weaker. If the course marked out in this address, does not put the breaks on extreme Radicalism, the only real and imminent danger to the country, we are much mistaken; but are not disposed to lose sight of the fact that fair promises are often broken, sometimes from the want of power, and sometimes of will to comply with them.

We are indebted to a friend for the following Telegraphic Dispatch of the president's Cabinet.

Mr. T. M. Wood, long and favorably known in Rome and other parts of Georgia, and in this State, as a correct and gentlemanly business man, is in this house, and recently visited our town on business connected therewith.

We invite special attention to the fact, that our liberal, enterprising and justly popular Grocery and commission merchants, Messrs J. B. Turnley & Co., have just received and offer for sale, at very low prices, a superior article of N. O. Syrup—also Lard and Clover Seed. These needing Syrup would do well to call soon, as a considerable rise in that article is anticipated, in consequence of the revolution in Cuba.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

PRESIDENT GRANT.

Washington, March 4.—General Grant on taking the oath said:—
Your suffrage having elevated me to the office of President of the United States. I have in conformity with the Constitution of our country, taken the oath of office, prescribed therein. I have taken this oath without mental reservation, with the determination to do to the best of my ability all that it requires of me. The responsibilities of the position I feel, but I accept them without fear. The office has come to me untrammelled. I bring to it a conscientious desire and determination to fill it to the best of my ability, to the satisfaction of the people.

On all leading questions agitating the public mind, I will always express my views to Congress and urge them according to my judgment, and when I think it advisable, will exercise the constitutional privilege of interposing a veto to defeat measures which I oppose. But all laws will be faithfully executed, whether they meet my approval or not.

I shall on all subjects have a policy to recommend, but none to enforce against the will of the people.

Laws are to govern all alike, those opposed to as well as those who favor them. I know no method to secure the repeal of bad or obnoxious laws so effective as their stringent execution.

The country having just emerged from a great rebellion, many questions will come before it for settlement in the next few years, which preceding administrations have never had to deal with. In meeting these it is desirable that they should be approached calmly without prejudice, state or sectional pride, remembering that the greatest good to the greatest number is the object to be attained. This requires security of persons and property and for religious and political opinion in every part of our common country, without regard to local prejudice. All laws to receive these ends will receive my best efforts for their enforcement.

A great debt has been contracted in securing to us and our posterity, the nation. The payment of this principal and interest, as well as the return to a specific basis as soon as it can be accomplished, without material detriment to the debtor class, or to the country at large, must be provided to protect the national honor. Every dollar of the Government's indebtedness should be paid in gold, unless otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract. Let it be understood that no repudiator of one farthing of our public debt will be trusted in public place, and it will go far towards strengthening a credit which ought to be the best in the world, will ultimately enable us to replace the debt with the bonds bearing less interest than we now pay. To this should be added a faithful collection of revenue, a strict account of the treasury for every dollar collected, and the greatest practical retrenchment in expenditures in every department of the Government.

When we compare the paying capacity of the country now, with ten States still in poverty from the effects of war, but soon to emerge, I trust, into greater prosperity than ever before, with its capacity twenty-five years ago, and calculate what it probably will be twenty-five years hence, who can doubt the feasibility of paying every dollar then with more ease than we now pay for useless luxuries. Why it looks as though Providence had bestowed upon us a strong box, the precious metals locked in the sterile mountains of the far West for which we are now forging the key to unlock to meet the very contingency that is now upon us. Ultimately it may be necessary to increase the facilities to reach these riches, and it may be necessary that the general Government should give its aid to secure this access; but that should only be when a dollar of obligation to pay securities precisely the same sort of a dollar to use now, and not before.

Whilst the question of specie payments is in abeyance, the prudent business man is careful about contracting debts payable in the distant future.—The nation should follow the same rule.

A prostrate commerce is to be rebuilt and all industries encouraged. The young men of the country, those who, from their age, must be its rulers twenty-five years hence, have a peculiar interest in maintaining the national honor. A moment's reflection as to what will be our commanding influence among the nations of the earth in their day, if they are only true to themselves, should inspire them with national pride. All divisions, geographical, political and religious, can join in the common sentiment.

How the public debt is to be paid or specie payments resumed, is not so important as that a plan should be adopted and acquiesced in. A united determination to do is worth more than divided counsels upon the method of doing. Legislation upon this subject may not be necessary now, nor even advisable, but will be when the civil law is more fully restored in all parts of the country, and trade resumes its wonted channels.

It will be my effort to laws to good faith, assessed, counted for and I will, to the point to office out this design.

In regard to deal with national quires individual, and I would citizen, whether birth, wherever he zed or the flag of c would respect the r demanding equal r.

If others depart, I follow their precedent.

The proper treatment occupants of this land, the one deserving of a full favor any course towards them tends to their civil christianiza ultimate citizenship.

The question of suffrage is one is likely to agitate the public so a portion of the citizens of the nation excluded from its privileges in any It seems to me very desirable that question should be settled now, entertain the hope and express the that it be done by the ratification fifteenth Article of Amendment to Constitution.

In conclusion, I ask the patriotic bearing of one towards another t out the land, and a determined e the part of every citizen to do hi towards cementing a happy Unio I ask the prayers of the Nat Almighty God in behalf of this consumation.

MR. GRANT:
I desire through the columns of the "Republican" to call the attention of those entrusted with the supervision of public county interest, to the present condition, and past common condition of the public thoroughfares throughout the county. During the entire winter, the roads have been almost impassable, even now it is with labor, and great difficulty that wagons can make headway in any given direction, without resorting to the use of doubleteams. The present system of road working is a perfect farce, and without a decided Radical change in this department, the material growth and prosperity of the country will continue in a stunted stand-still condition.

Give us at least passable highways to and from market, and large quantities of unsold produce will find their way to adjacent towns and villages, thereby infusing new life into mercantile interest, and at the same time producing a happy effect upon the poor and their clubs, by stirring up their sluggish blood, and affording relief at least for a season, from sedentary and dyspeptic habits.

Ten days before the opening of the incoming term of the Spring Court for Calhoun county, the various overseers will call out their respective squads, throw a few pinetops in a conspicuous place or so, scratch off a hillcock, dismiss the hands after having committed them to their faithful performance of duty—report the road in excellent condition, and thus pass muster before an ordinary board of apportioners, as scientific practical engineers of the first water, when in reality a proper review would exhibit a different state of facts, clearly showing a disposition simply to evade the law without regard to duty, or public interest involved.

Evidently a lameness exists in the present road-law, or in its execution, and the hope is here expressed, and designed to be impressed upon the minds of the Grandjurors to be assembled at the sitting of the Spring Term of the court 1869 that they will make minute enquiry (allowing no dodging), as to the condition of the various roads during the past year, and not their present status after the scientific handling alluded to above in this article.

I would that I could be, to those who have the control of this matter, what "Cross Tie" evidently designs himself to be to the "Town Council," a perpetual eyesore, or thorn in the side, till this lamentable omission of public duty is properly remedied.

FARMER.

OBITUARY.

Harris Taylor, son of Jasper L. and Martha E. Mays was born February 20th, 1853, and died January 18th, 1869, aged 15 years 10 months and 18 days.

It is supposed that Harris came to his death by Apoplexy. He was loading a wagon with seed cotton, from which he fell backward, was taken up, carried home, and died in about one hour. He never spoke from the time he fell.

He was converted and joined the M. E. Church South, under the ministry of Rev. T. G. Slaughter. As a son, he was affectionate and obedient; as a brother, he was kind; as a member of the Church, he was consistent. Harris was a good boy. But he is gone, went suddenly and unexpectedly. How appropriate the admonition, "Be ye also ready."

Gen. Grant and Georgia.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The statement that Gen. Grant had thrown his influence against the measure to dismangle Georgia, expel her representatives from Congress, and induce her to a state of vassalage was verified to-day.

He went to the capital this morning and sent for Boutwell, who had charge of the Resolution, and frankly expressed to him his views on the subject.

The result is, that when Boutwell he announced the indefinite postponement of the resolution, which will be heard of no more. The circumstances which led to this important conclusion were as follows: Gen. Young, of Georgia, a Democratic Representative, aware that Boutwell was pressing the resolution, and, if it were reported to the House, the reckless majority therein would adopt it under the usual gag, called on Gen. Grant and laid before him the facts, together with the action of the Georgia Legislature. He appealed to the General to use his power to protect a helpless people. He informed the General that the Georgia Legislature had passed an ordinance authorizing the Supreme Court of the State to promptly adjudicate on a case which would determine the status of the negro, but that Gov. Bullock vetoed the bill to prevent any adjustment, so that Congress would return the State to a territorial condition, and give Bullock control of the offices, institute test oaths, and otherwise consummate all the mischief possible. He urged Gen. Grant to advise a postponement of the proposed action of Congress, at least until the courts could decide the case. Gen. Grant said:

I am opposed to Congress touching the State of Georgia. I think that the people ought to refer the matter to the courts and abide their decision. The Legislature acted badly in expelling the colored members, but its subsequent course in sending the question to the courts meets my views, and the veto of the Governor surprises me. I do not think that Congress can ignore the fact Georgia is a State in the Union. I hope that Congressional action will be postponed.

General Grant further intimated that he would act at once; and with what effect is stated above.

Incidentally during the interview the General referred to Mr. Boutwell as one of the ablest as well as one of the most upright men in the country, and he also repeated the remark which has hitherto been attributed to him, that he would not be the President of a mere political party, but of the whole country.

A most decided sensation was experienced in the House to-day over the spectacle for the first time in our history of a negro appearing in debate in Congress. The galleries were literally packed, and people came flocking from all portions of the building as soon as it was known that Willis Menard, the colored claimant for a seat from Louisiana, was to address the House in a little speech in behalf of his claim. His white opponent, Hunt, declined to avail himself of the opportunity to reply.

Menard is a rather intelligent looking negro, all over and all the time. A smart debate sprang up, following his speech, Messrs. Garfield, Paine, Schenck and others taking ground for his admission in opposition to the report of the committee. Finally the whole matter was tabled. But forty Radicals voted to admit the negro Representative.

The Radicals do not intend to submit their Constitutional Negro-suffrage Amendment to the President for his signature. They propose to send it at once to the States upon its passage by the two Houses of Congress. This is a very summary manner of disposing of the following section in the Constitution, which says: "Every order, resolution or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate and House may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment), shall be presented to the President, and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill." This dispenses with the President's signature in the highest of all legislative measures—the alteration of the fundamental law—is a pure usurpation upon the part of Congress. It ought to vitiate the amendment, even if it was adopted by all States, and would in the opinion of any upright and honest Judge of the Supreme Court.

ROBERT AND ITS REWARD.—We were informed, yesterday, that a few days ago, a planter of Limestone county, on a river boat, was visited, at night by a band of men in the KuKlux guise, who demanded his money, recently received for his crop of cotton. He gave up the money, and after the pretended KuKlux left, he armed himself with a double barreled shot gun and a revolver, pursued and overtook them, and fired on them, killing a white man, who lived in the neighborhood, and two negroes, who had helped to make his crop of cotton. The rest fled, and he recovered his money which was in the possession of one or more of the clan. We did not converse with the citizen of Limestone, who brought the news to our city but we receive it from a gentleman, who did converse with him and believes him trustworthy.

P. S.—After writing the above, we learned that the three men, who were killed were the only persons of the house, and the rest stood outside of the gate; and as soon as the robbers left the house, the planter fired on them with the result stated.—Huntsville Democrat.

The Negroes—Their Fate.

We quite agree with the Times that negroes are likely to get precious few offices in this country, and these few generally poor ones. They are a small fraction of our people, and certain to be a less and less considerable minority with each decennial census.

Mark that when the subject of emancipation used to be agitated, the Tribune and other Radicals always assured the people that the negroes, when emancipated, would thrive and flourish and become a great and prosperous people in our land, yet now these same organs tell us that the emancipated negroes are dying out, and that the fact of their rapidly approaching extinction is certain to be exhibited by every census. The present Radical confessions on this subject are enforced confessions.

The negro race is actually vanishing like a black frost in the sunshine. Various causes, all irresistible, are contributing to the inevitable result. We are told on good authority that there is not in all the South a county in which the negroes are more numerous than half as numerous as they were while slavery existed. In the name of God and humanity, Radicalism is sweeping a great race from the face of creation.

Moreover, the condition of the negroes who survive to us is far less desirable than that of those who die. During the recent Presidential Campaign in New Orleans, an interesting subject came up for discussion, bearing on the colored people. Deplorable facts in regard to the condition of the negroes were reported, made unofficially by the rectors from the country parishes, concerning the representation of a horrible state of affairs as existing among the slaves. It was stated, person after person, and with knowledge, that they are abandoning any and all semblance of Christian worship that they have been taught, and are lapsing into absolute idolatry, fetishism, and the worship of snakes, lizards and toads. This does not come from irresponsible sources, but directly from the lips of clergymen of the Episcopal Church, and is entitled to implicit belief. They say that the negroes are saying: "indecent and unchristianably horrible."

Who can wonder that the negro race is vanishing from the earth? Is it not true that it should thus vanish? Except for Radical interference, the negroes, even after their emancipation, might have remained in a great degree, contented and happy. But the Radicals have made themselves a curse to two races.—Courier Journal.

Gen. Forney's Letter.

We shall publish in our next paper the letter alluded to in the following extract from the Montgomery Advertiser of the 10th inst. The letter was addressed to the Editor of the Capital City Record, published at Montgomery, in answer to questions as to his opinion of the political situation and prospect.

"The Advertiser of this morning contains the admirable letter of this distinguished citizen. All should read it. Every word breathes the sentiments of a true Southern gentleman, and its high moral tone is not surpassed by its solid, logical qualities. Such a letter as this of Gen. Forney's appeals, with irresistible force, not only to the patriotic sensibilities but to the substantial common sense of every Southern man. It is a brave, sensible and eloquent exposition of the true policy which should now control us in our political course. Every one will in the end admit that after all 'honesty is the best policy.'"

It is unnecessary for us to inform the people of Alabama who Gen. Forney is. His noble record, both in the field and in the Council Chamber, is a part of the history of the State of Alabama, and in some sense, of the entire South."

We expect to be able to give our readers some interesting and important Railroad news in our next paper.

REAL ESTATE IN JACKSONVILLE.—Notwithstanding all the evil predictions of croakers, as to the future prospects of Jacksonville, we can assure our friends at a distance, that trade and business was never more prosperous, or on firmer basis. The price of real estate is also as good or better than it has ever been since its first settlement. Sales have been made within the last few weeks to the amount of some $15,000.

It will be seen by reference to the advertisement of Col. J. D. Hoke, that he has just received a fine variety of assortment of Spring Goods—Call soon and call often, and you can be suited both in quality and price with every article desired. The attention of Millers is specially invited to his fine assortment of Bolting Cloths.

SADDLERY & HARNESS.—Mr J. D. Privett, as will be seen by reference to his advertisement, has greatly enlarged and increased his business in this line. Mr. Privett, a well known and worthy citizen, is a first class workman himself, and what he does not manufacture, he will always have on hand from others, of superior workmanship. This establishment is a great convenience and advantage to our place, and well merits and will doubtless receive a liberal patronage. Persons living near the Railroad in any direction can, without the expense and loss of time of personal application, send their orders for any description of articles in his line, with the most perfect confidence in their being promptly filled, of as good quality and upon as good terms as if they were personally present.

Calhoun County, Ala., March 11th, '69.

I deem it my duty, in gratitude to Dr. W. T. Knight, and for the benefit of the afflicted, to state that I have two sons who were almost entirely blind from disease of their eyes; and who were cured by Dr. W. T. Knight. They had been afflicted for four years, and had been treated by several physicians, from whom they received no benefit; and continued to grow worse, until I thought their cases hopeless. At last, I was so fortunate as to hear of Dr. W. T. Knight, to whom I took my sons; and when he told me that he could cure them and restore their sight, I doubted it; but in a few months he cured them both, and now they are free from disease of their eyes, or obstruction to sight. It is over twelve months since they were cured and they are all right.

A. WOODS, Judge of Probate.

The New York Tribune says: In the Supreme Court, yesterday, the last legal technicality in the discharge of the case of Mr. Jefferson Davis, was complied with; and the ex-President of the Confederacy, is now freed from even a semblance of prosecution or trial. We do not expect to hear the clamor now, that much simpler and more evidently just steps in the same case evoked some time ago; and yet, we fail to perceive why, if this thing were to be done, it might not better have been done without the prolonged incarceration, and the other chapters of the discreditable history.

Report of the Agricultural Committee to the Farmers and Mechanics meeting in Jacksonville.

TO THE FARMERS OF CALHOUN COUNTY.

Gentlemen: Your committee appointed on the day of—met on the 10th inst. and after consultation, beg leave to submit the following report:

The first difficulty that presents itself to our minds, is the uncertainty and instability of labor. To meet this difficulty, we recommend, 1st, That a liberal compensation be offered to laborers, and that no laborer be employed unless he brings a certificate of character from his former employer. 2d, That Farmers agree upon and establish a uniform price for the different grades of laborers. In view of the fact that we see our once productive fields, now all so barren, because of the exhaustive system of culture which extracts its life and gives nothing in return, we recommend, that after having exhausted all the droppings from the stable, barnyard, cow lots and all the leaf mould and other fertilizers about the farm, that we purchase and use a sufficient amount of commercial fertilizers to restore our lands to their once healthful, vigorous and remunerating condition.

On account of the scarcity of labor we would urge Farmers to curtail the use of his crop, by cultivating only his best lands, to lay aside the Scooter and Shovel which have so long scraped the surface, and to avail himself as far as possible of the great advantages offered by the improvements in agricultural implements.

As an agent, and as we believe an efficient agent to accomplish all that the most sanguine may desire, we recommend the constant reading of agricultural books and periodicals, which furnish us what the experience and observation of others who have passed and are now passing an ordeal similar to ours. And in order to carry out more perfectly the foregoing suggestions, we recommend that a society be organized to be known as "The Agricultural Society of Calhoun County." We further recommend that each tract organize a farmers club as auxiliary to the County Society. We would also recommend that the County Society hold its meetings monthly, and each club weekly. And now gentlemen, having concluded our meager, imperfect, but concise report, allow us in conclusion to call your attention to the important interests involved. Your land upon which nature has lavished so much beauty and wealth, are annually becoming less valuable—Your broom-sedge fields and sassafras orchards are "surely but not slowly" diminishing the dominion of the plow. The deep ravine, and the pine jungle have taken possession of the broad acres once covered with the snowy cotton, the waving wheat and golden corn. Barrenness and wastes meet your gaze whithersoever you turn. The lean and unwholesome cattle beside your straw piles, but take up and repeat the sad story of decay and dissolution around us. These all with trumpet tongues, loudly urge reform.—These admonish us to awake from our lethargy, and do something while we may. The success which has crowned the concentrated efforts of others teaches us that we too by concerted action and well directed energy, may reclaim the wastes of our once fertile fields.

J. C. McAULEY,
Chairman.

The Committee of Mechanics reported in favor of the establishment of Cotton and other Factories; and the following constitution of an Association then formed, was adopted:

CONSTITUTION.

Art. 1, Sec. 1. The name and style of this organization shall be the Agricultural, Mechanical and Manufacturing Association of Calhoun County.

THE COMB AND SOAP QUESTION.—Touching on the matter of Congress using fourteen hundred dollars' worth of combs and soap, the New Orleans Crescent remarks: "There is no danger that the Royal street concern (Louisiana Legislature) will incur no such expense. Combs and soap would be superfluous articles among our Legislators, a large proportion of whom could not use a comb if they would and wouldn't use soap if they could." It will not require much acuteness to discover the kink in that suggestion.

Andrew Johnson.

The New York World concludes a long article on the retirement of Andrew Johnson with the following:

While we cannot regard President Johnson either as a wise statesman or a skilful politician, we must concede that he has been placed in a position so trying and difficult that no address or abilities could have appeared to advantage in it. We must also pay a sincere tribute to his personal character, which is less distinguished perhaps by the amiable than by the respectable virtues. He is a man of settled convictions and stubborn fidelity to them. He cherishes a just and deep reverence for the Constitution of his country. He has never been accused, never even suspected, of using any public position for purposes of private gain. With a Democratic Congress to support him, he would have made a judicious and successful though probably not a brilliant administration. His talents are better fitted for debate, and, if, after a needed interval of repose, he should be returned to the Senate from Tennessee, he will be one of the most important and useful members of that body, a perpetual thorn in the side of the Radicals, and the fearless champion of honest legislation.

The Philadelphia A gazette: "The time is not far distant when the cloud of dust raised by the Radicals, to hide their own misdeeds, will pass away. Then the character of Andrew Johnson will appear as one not free from hasty impulses and gust of passion, but, in the main, swayed by the highest motives of patriotism and a fearless and unflinching devotion to the right."

INDIANAPOLIS, March 4.—In the Legislature this morning, as soon as the session was opened, fifty-nine Democratic members offered their resignations, thus breaking the quorum and bringing the session to an end. The coup d'etat was not expected, it having been determined upon in caucus last night. A few members remained in order to make the calls of the House and otherwise prevent any further legislation. This leaves matters in a very bad state, not a single one of the appropriation bills have been passed, and the benevolent institution, prisoners, etc., are left unprotected for. Had the bill been postponed until this afternoon, these would have been passed, and there could have been no danger of pressing the passage of the constitutional amendment. A caucus of the Republican members was held immediately, but it was found that nothing could be done to help things. A committee of two Senators and three representatives was appointed to issue writs for special elections in the vacated districts, and will call a special session of the Legislature to meet in April.

And further that the estate of said deceased had been duly and regularly declared insolvent, and before it was necessary to sell said lands for the purpose of paying the debts of said deceased; and asking that an order be granted by this court, authorizing him to sell said lands and fixtures.

POETRY.

From out the watching music of the night,
Whose silvery notes weave love-kissed dreams;

From out the breathing glory of the light,
That floats down murmuring, shadowed streaming;

Ye come, soft-bathed in tears,
O visions of sweet ended years.

From out the echoes lingering on life's hills,
That wander home like birds at sunnier even;

From out the hours, whose little cup love fills

With meeter drops that yet a bitter leave;
Ye come, strong, as heaven's tears,
O visions of sweet ended years.

No more to be, hope's glowing, mystic lamp,
Whose fervid flame sets free the prison'd heart;

Nor, eager, beckon looks and tones that stamp

The colors on the soul then, pale, depart;
Let on, amidst hurried fears,
Come visions of sweet ended years.

O, forgotten, blighted days and hours, Smile of life—sorrow wildly dear and sweet!

O joyous buds that never bloom'd to flowers,
But let your morning promise incomplete
With patient heart I bring you to the quiet shore,

Where eyes that wept resistless tears will weep no more.

To dying sight the finite clears—
With God, those visions sweet of ended years.

Good Nature.—Good Nature is a fairly who makes the association of finite beings a means of happiness. Her presence is to be coveted above gold and gems. Where she is, there is no contentment, no discord, no strife; but all is peace and harmony—love and unity—
Where she is, there is no cold restraint, no stiff mistrust, no two-faced reserve, no fear. Over the hallowed ground that her feet touch we can walk with a bold, untrammelled step. In the habitation where she abides every reasonable thought is spoken without dread. She never misinterprets, misconstrues, nor misgives, of evil. In what-ever circumstance, in her presence, we are free —free to think, free to speak, free to act. Where she reigns, we dread no ill will, no detraction. Her motto is Pleasure, and her watchword, Peace.

The Editor.—A schoolboy's composition on "The Editor" ran as follows, in a school not far from Cincinnati:

"The editor is one of the happiest animals in the world. He can go to the circus, afternoon and evening without paying a cent; also, to inequities and hangings. He has free tickets to picnics and strawberry festivals, gets wedding cake sent him, and sometimes gets a licking, but not often, for he can take things back in the next issue, which he generally does. I never knew but one editor to get licked. His paper busted that day, and he couldn't take anything back. While other folks have to go to bed early, the editor can sit up late every night and see all that is going on. The boys think it's a big thing to hang on till 10 o'clock. When I am a man I mean to be an editor, so I can stay out late of night. Then that will be bully. The editor don't have to saw wood or do any chopping, except with his scissors. Railroads get up excusions for him, knowing if they didn't he'd make them sit up and get it. In politics he don't care much who he goes for, if they are on his side. If they ain't he goes for 'em any way; so it amounts to nearly the same thing. There is a great many people trying to be editors who can't, and some of them have been in the profession for years. If I was asked if I had rather have an education or be a circus rider,
I would say, let me be an editor."

More about Velocipedes.

The following is from the Connecticut Mirror.

Mr. Charles Bradford, brother of the marine artist, William Bradford, has recently invented a four-wheel velocipede, which is said to be paragon of these vehicles. The lucky inventor has been offered twenty thousand dollars for his patent, but declined it. He has sold, however, the right for the State of Connecticut, for six thousand dollars. This invention "running on all-fours," promises to make the new means of locomotion of positive value, and the millennium for horses may possibly be near. The four wheeled nags, unlike those with only two wheels, stand quietly, while the most timid and slow moving, mount and settle themselves in their seats, and at the end of the journey, are equally gentle while the riders dismount.

The price of velocipedes vary from $50 to $100. The weight is about sixty pounds, and the size of driving wheel most in favor from 30 to 36 inches in diameter. Hills, of more than one foot rise in twenty, can hardly be mounted.
A horse costs more, and must eat, and may kick, and will die, and you cannot stable him under your bed. The great amusement of America, the coming season, will be velocipede riding.

ASSASSINATION.—Dr. John L. Finlayson, Clerk of the Jackson County Circuit Court was shot from behind a tree by an unknown assassin last Friday and killed instantly. Maj. J. W. Pur-men, who was walking with Doctor Finlayson, at the time, was also badly wounded, and lies in a critical condition.

In Colorado there are 8 men to 1 woman, and in Nevada, 20 to 1.

WHAT THE DOCTORS SAY.

Amos Woolly, M. D., of Koscusko county,
Ind., says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively in my practice and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use."

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the remedy to cure all Lung and Throat difficulties. It should be thoroughly tested before using any other Balsam. It will cure when all others fail.

THE PEOPLE'S FAVORITE

Perry Davis' Pain Killer

This became an article of commerce,—which no medicine ever became before. It is as much an item in every bill of goods sent to the country merchants as tea, coffee, or sugar.
This speaks volumes in its favor.

The good people should always keep by them a good preparation, and

DAVIS' PAIN KILLER
is that preparation. Don't be deceived by the many worthless stuffs offered, such as "King of Pains," "Pain Pain," and the like.
Davis' Pain Killer is known to be good.

It is sold by all Druggists.

THE LIVER.

THE symptoms of LIV-ER COMPLAINT, are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for Rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general constive, sometimes alterative with lax. The head is troubled with pain and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensations of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complains of fainting of weakness, debility, and low spirits;
sometimes some of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the Liver is generally the organ most involved. Cure the Liver with Simmons' Regulator and all will be well.

Letter from Gen. W. H. Forney.

JACKSONVILLE, ALA., Feb. 27, 1869.

Editor Capital City Record.—DEAR SIR: Pressing professional engagements and other causes have prevented my answering your very kind and complimentary letter until the present time. Although you greatly overrate the importance of my political opinions, yet the fact of my silence in the last campaign, to which you make allusion, might lead to a misconception of my true position, both by my political friends and opponents. I have endeavored to comply with your request, and furnish you with a brief expose of my views of the "situation."

I did not vote in the last Presidential election. I could not do so, except by taking the oath prescribed by the Legislature. This I was unwilling to do, because I gave a different construction to the obligation thereby imposed from that of most of my democratic friends, fearing, if I took the oath, it would commit me fully and forever to the doctrine of negro suffrage—a doctrine so monstrous and absurd, that much as I desired the success of the democratic party, I could not conscientiously comply with the pre-requisite condition of casting my vote. Possibly, in this, I erred. But that contest is now over.—The American people have, by their verdict endorsed the principle of the republican party; the "Reconstruction Act," negro suffrage, and negro carpet-bag constitutions of the South. The Southern people are utterly powerless to escape from any of these evils for the next four years, at least. The Supreme Court, whatever may be their convictions of law or right, dare not, I fear, in the face of the dominant party, at present decide the Reconstruction Acts unconstitutional. The radical leaders have lost none of their bitter, unrelenting hate towards the South. Gen. Grant, even if disposed (of which, as yet, we have not written evidence,) to pursue a more just and liberal policy, could not aid us without breaking with his party. In which event, notwithstanding his great popularity, he would soon find himself, almost if not quite as powerless as President Johnson, for at least the coming Congressional term.

The political future of the South is indeed gloomy, and makes us well nigh despair of the Republic. Free institutions were formerly supposed to rest on the virtue and intelligence of the people as their corner stones. These have crumbled. And now the American edifice rests on force, ignorance and corruption for its foundation. Our nation, although young in years, already gives indication of all the vices which have marked the decline and fall of all former republics. The Southern people are powerless to stay the tide of corruption which threatens the overthrow of our government. It is easy to see the base, if difficult it is not impossible to prescribe the antidote. No one in the South is insouciant enough again to appeal to the sword—all fictitious opposition to the government, every lawless resistance of the constituted authorities, State or Federal, every secret attempt to wreak vengeance on those who oppress and enslave us, instead of remedying, tend but to aggravate the ills we suffer.

Our people should not adopt such a policy. It seems to me there are but two courses for us to pursue. One is passive endurance of a state of things, which,

Our thanks are due to Mr. F. Sutton, for the nice present of light bread, cakes and custard, manufactured at his new Bakery and sent us on Wednesday evening last. This gentleman has now got his extensive new Bakery in full blast, and will be able to furnish the public with excellent articles at low prices.

SOUTHERN ALMANAC.—We acknowledge the receipt, and tender our thanks to Messrs. Walker, Evans & Cogswell, Stationers, Printers, and Account Book Manufacturers, Charleston, S. C., for a copy of their valuable Southern Almanac. This almanac is not only neatly and beautifully printed, and substantially bound, but contains a large amount of Agricultural, Railroad, & Commercial Statistics carefully compiled, making it valuable, not for one year only, but future time. While speaking of this excellent and reliable firm, we will take the liberty to say, that we have no doubt Court officers and commercial men in this section can get from them Blank Books of every description of as good quality and on better terms, than Philadelphia or New York. Keep this in mind, and give your patronage to a worthy firm of southerners.

We promised our readers last week, some interesting and important Railroad news, or at least expressed the expectation that we should be able to give it in this issue. We will only say now however, that our Railroad prospects are altogether encouraging. For prudential reasons, we do not think it best to make public all we have learned on the subject. These reasons, we think, will be fully understood and duly appreciated by our readers.

We invite attention to the medical card of Dr. X. H. Miller, who has long been engaged in the successful practice of his profession at his present location.

The attention of all persons who may desire temporary accommodation, is called to the notice of Mr. Francis Sutton, the prompt, attentive and accommodating Proprietor of the Jacksonville Restaurant. Our friends from the country in attendance on court, will find his prices very low, and his establishment a means of economy and convenience to them.

Circuit Court.—The Spring term of our Circuit Court will commence on Monday next.

Owing to the fact that Hotel keepers, who take care of horses will be charged for Livery stable license, we learn that they will prepare for it in this place, and we give the information in order that persons from the country may not be disappointed, and have time to make other arrangements.

J. B. TURNLEY & CO. have just sold out a very superior lot of No. 1, New Orleans Molasses, which we know from having used it.

They will have another lot in a day or two, equally good; and we would advise every body who can, to procure a supply before it becomes scarce and high.

Mr. McBride, of the house of McBride & Co., the extensive, Crockery, Glassware, China, Silver Plated Ware and Cutlery, dealers, of Atlanta, Ga., is now in our place. This is an excellent house, deals very extensively with many interior merchants of Georgia, Alabama, and other adjoining States, and upon terms more favorable, in many respects than can be obtained in any of the Northern cities. We commend Mr. McBride to the confidence and patronage of our Merchants here and elsewhere, along the line of the Selma, Dalton & Rome Railroad. We learn from conversation with Mr. McBride, that the firm sells to many merchants on their return from New York. This house is too well, favorably and extensively known to require any extended remarks from us.

THE USES OF CLOVER.

It would be very difficult to overestimate the importance of this crop to all farmers engaged in mixed husbandry. Its introduction into England produced an entire revolution in the Agriculture of that country. Clover laid the foundation of all those wise systems of rotation that have since made the agriculture of England a model, and a marvel to the world. Nor is its importance much less in those sections of America where its values are appreciated and rightly applied. Clover is valuable:

1. As a forage plant.
2. As a fertilizer.

As a forage crop, its special value is in the quantity and quality of the hay that it produces, and the rapidity with which it comes to maturity after being sown. Clover, properly cured, is almost equal to good Timothy for cattle, and much superior to all other hay for milch stock. In pasture, the same relative values hold, with the addition that, for hogs, clover is a grand specific—superior, perhaps, to all other grasses.

The specific value of Clover, however, lies in its wonderful powers as a fertilizer. In this respect, it is unequalled by any crop grown on the farm. The different ways in which it adds to the fertility of the land, are chiefly:

- 1st. Shading the surface of the soil.
- 2nd. By its rapid and luxuriant growth, it soon forms a close and heavy covering over the soil, that acts as a mulch in protecting it from the scorching rays of the summer sun. At the same time that the soil is protected, the weeds are smothered out and the land cleaned up.

3d. By its ability to disintegrate the soil. Clover possesses peculiarly long and powerful tap roots, that penetrate deep, loosening the soil and admitting the air, thus rapidly changing the physical condition, not only of the soil, but of the subsoil also.

4th. By effecting important chemical changes necessary to enrich the earth with plant food—Its abundance of foliage enables clover to gather from the atmosphere immense stores of gases that give life to the plants, which its far-reaching roots send deep down into the earth. Thus a clover field becomes, as it were, a great reservoir for plant food. And clover itself becomes a great commissary, collecting food from the earth and the air for whatever crop that may follow.

5th. By preventing washing.—The clover mulch breaks the force of the hard beating rains, while the roots hold the soil in a mat as it were, thus preventing it from washing.

6th. As a green manure.—Perhaps no crop is so valuable for turning under in a green stage as clover. In addition to the immense amount of rich vegetable matter in its abundant roots, in all the materials necessary to the healthful growth of succeeding crops.

The Cotton Crop—Its Past, Present and Future.

The Selma Cotton Broker's Association furnishes the Selma Times with the following paper on the cotton crop:

The crop of cotton to be raised in the United States cannot, for at least several years, exceed two and a half million bales, and for the present year the indications point to a much smaller figure. It is an alarming fact that throughout Middle Alabama the planters are from two to three weeks behind with their work, and the season is too far advanced for them to remedy this evil.

On quite a large number of the plantations no hands have been employed, and of course no work has been done, while on a majority of them the number hands employed is wholly inadequate to the cultivation of the land.

The freedom to a very damaging extent have thus far refused to contract, and excessive rains have rendered farm work wholly impracticable. Under all the circumstances it would be almost a miracle to see a crop of two million bales this year.

In view of the future prospect of cotton as glanced at above, it becomes a matter of serious interest both to the producer and consumer to study carefully the question of supply and demand. The entire visible supply of cotton in the world on the 5th of February, 1899, was 1,300,000 bales. In 1898 it was 1,500,000, and in 1897 it was 1,700,000.

It would seem apparent from the above that while the world has been producing as much cotton as we can hope to produce for at least several years to come, the consumption has been continually gaining upon production, and as shown above, caused a reduction of stock to the extent of 400,000 bales in two years.

The American crop of 1897 was 2,400,000. Admitting that the crop of 1898 shows as many bales (which we hold is an error of 200,000) the difference in the weight of bales this year and last will reduce the estimate about 100,000 bales.

In 1897 the planter had every inducement to make heavy bales. In 1898 the case was reversed, and the crop of 1898 will show a diminished weight of at least thirty pounds per bale.

The spinners at Manchester hold today 120,000 bales less than one year ago. This reduction of their stock has been caused by their persistent refusal to enter the markets for supply, hoping by this means to force down prices, but thus far they have only succeeded in reducing the price about 3 of a penny from the highest point.

The receipts at U. S. ports for the month of February show a falling off, as compared with last year, of say 110,000, and this disparity will continue. So we naturally conclude the entire stocks now held in American ports added to receipts yet to come in will not give an aggregate supply of American cotton of 900,000 bales, for the remainder of the year.

We exported last year 1,650,000 bales. Thus far this year we have exported say 855,000. If we furnish to Europe this year as much as last, we will have left for American spinners less than 100,000 bales.

From the most reliable statistics we think the consumption by American mills, this year, will reach at least 1,100,000 bales, of which not more than 600,000 bales have been taken by them. If this is true, and the American spinners take 500,000 needed by them, we will have but about 350,000 bales for export, (having 50,000 bales for stock) thus leaving us short in our export this year as compared with last about 450,000 bales. This, too, in the face of the fact that, while we exported last year say 450,000 bales more than we possibly can this year the stock in Liverpool was reduced last year about 100,000 bales, showing that our exports of 1,650,000 bales last year were, to that extent, insufficient to meet the demand. It is not claimed by any one that the receipts this year, from India, Brazil, Egypt, or elsewhere, will be in excess of last year, while from America the European receipts will certainly be less by 400,000 bales.

In making the above estimates and suggestions, we have taken as a basis of our calculation the popular idea contained in the cotton circulars usually received as authority. Our own opinion is that the crop of 1898 will be about 2,200,000. This opinion is induced by a personal knowledge of the almost entire exhaustion of the interior supply of cotton over a very extensive area of the cotton region as shown by recent receipts.

The receipts at all the ports this week are about 40,000 bales, against 78,000 for the corresponding week of last year, showing a decrease of about 38,000 for the week as compared with last year. All the rivers tributary to New Orleans were open to navigation one month earlier this year, than last, and the continued high prices, added to the necessities of the cotton planters of the West, have made them free sellers. The present material falling off in receipts at that port indicates unmistakably an exhaustion of supply.

The receipts up to this date, including overland shipments direct to the manufacturers, amount to say 1,900,000 bales. In 1897 the receipts after this date were about 300,000 bales. The receipts for the past three weeks have fallen off about 20,000 bales as compared with the corresponding period of 1897.

We take the year 1897 as a criterion, for the reason that we are this year at least three weeks ahead of last year in receipts, and hence a comparison will not hold.

The continued wet weather has facilitated the shipments of cotton, while it has retarded labor upon the plantations. All things considered, we are fully convinced that the estimates of the crop of 1898 are greatly above the mark, and that 2,200,000 will cover the crop. One other idea, and we will leave practical men to draw their own conclusions: At present prices there will be near 200,000 bales held over by the planters against say 42,000 last year, thus reducing the supply to that extent.

SELMA COTTON BROKERS' ASSO'S.
FROM GEORGIA.

Augusta, March 14.—The particulars of the tragedy at Warren, Ga., which resulted in the killing of Wallace by Darden, and subsequently the killing of Darden by disguised parties, show that both Wallace and Darden were delinquents and that the whole affair was purely personal, originating first in a private quarrel between the friends of Wallace and Darden, which was carried into the Masonic Lodge, where it is alleged Darden black-balled Wallace, for which the latter denounced the former as a liar and a scoundrel, on the publication of which Darden shot at Wallace while passing on the street in front of his office. As already stated, the affair is deeply regretted as a great calamity by the friends of both parties, who were highly esteemed and connected in Georgia.

In Alexander county, N. C., a few days since, a young man named Land had a disagreement with his sister, whereupon she left her father's house and did not return till night. On attempting to enter the house she was shot and killed by her brother with whom she had quarreled. Her father mother and two brothers then collected wood and burned the body almost literally to ashes in order to conceal the crime. Shortly afterward the party were all arrested and confined in the county jail, and whilst there, the father and Mrs. Land were murdered by the deed. It is stated that the family are fanatical on the subject of religion and are supposed to be insane.

Three or four days ago a Mr. Hilliard and wife got aboard a Memphis and Charleston Railroad train at Moscow. With them was their dead infant, whose remains they intended taking to Columbia, Tennessee, for burial. Mr. Hilliard has been unwell, and, after securing seats in the car, swallowed a quantity of morphine, in the hope of obtaining sleep. He sank into a deep slumber, but never awoke. The opiate was too powerful for his system, and an outburst of grief from the heart-broken wife apprised the passengers that death had entered the car. Poor Hilliard had breathed away his life so peacefully that even his wife knew not her double affliction until a cessation of the heart's pulsations told the sad story.

What the Cubans are Fighting For.

The Cubans, if we may credit their own story, told officially and from mouth to mouth, are fighting for

Representation,

Severance of Church and State, and General emancipation.

Cuba has to day no representation in the Spanish Courts, and never has had. She has not been offered even that constructive representation with which we were sought to be deluded in colonial times. She has no voice in determining the amount or the method of collection of the taxes which she must raise. The taxes again, are not invested nor spent for her benefit, nor has she any power of any kind over them. She is simply the coffer of the Spanish throne.

The consequences of this disability are those which have always followed it, and are not a few.

A burdensome standing army weighs down and impoverishes the island.

The rule of the Captain General is absolute and arbitrary.

The exercise of the right of petition has been followed by expatriation and imprisonment.

The corporate association of the people for the purpose of science, art or commerce, has been discontinued and impeded.

The ports of the island have been closed to foreign ships for the purpose of creating a monopoly for Spanish bottoms.

But why enumerate a lengthening list of evils? For this cause alone—taxation without representation,—we went to war, and deemed the step well and prudently taken.

I deem it my duty, in gratitude to Dr. W. T. Knight, and for the benefit of the afflicted, to state that I have two sons who were almost entirely blind from disease of their eyes; and who were cured by Dr. W. T. Knight. They had been afflicted for four years, and had been treated by several physicians, from whom they received no benefit; and continued to grow worse, until I thought their cases hopeless. At last, I was so fortunate as to hear of Dr. W. T. Knight, to whom I took my sons; and when he told me that he could cure them and restore their sight, I doubted it; but in a few months he cured them both, and now they are free from disease of their eyes, or obstruction to sight. It is over twelve months since they were cured and they are all right.

POETRY.

The Golden Side.

There is many a rest in the road of life,
If we only would stop to take it;
And many a tone from the better land,
If the querulous heart would make it!
To the sunny heart that is full of hope,
And whose beautiful trust ne'er falters,
The grass is green, and the flowers are bright,
Through the wintry storm prevaileth.

Better to hope though the clouds hang low,
And to keep the eye still lifted,
For the sweet blue sky'll soon peep through,
When the ominous clouds are rifted!
There was never a night without a day,
Or an evening without a morning;
And the darkest hour, as the proverb goes,
Is the hour before the dawning.

There is many a gem in the path of life,
Which we pass in our idle pleasure,
That is richer far than the jeweled crown,
Or the miser's hoarded treasure;
It may be the love of a little child,
Or a mother's prayers to heaven,
Or only a beggar's grateful thanks
For a cup of water given.

Better to weave in the web of life
A bright and golden filling,
And to God's will with a ready heart,
And hands that are swift and willing,
Than to snap the minute, delicate threads
Of our curious life asunder,
And then blame heaven for the tangled ends,
And sit, and grieve, and wonder.

A Diamond Story.

A remarkable diamond story has been set afloat, which is briefly as follows: Nearly a century ago an old gentleman in the lower part of Virginia picked up a stone to throw at a rabbit; the stone glittered in the sun, and the old man concluded to take it home to his children to play with. Shortly afterward the family physician happened to see the stone, and offered six dollars for it, but the family would not sell. Subsequently a trusty friend, about to visit Europe, was given the stone, and on his reaching London he consulted an old lapidary named Nox, who, after careful examination, declared that "all America is not able to buy that stone." A Jew, whom the trusty friend afterward consulted, informed him not to come out with the stone again without a guide, as he would be robbed were it known he had it. The friend returned home, and delivered up the precious gem. Some time afterward a party of six Marylanders offered for the stone in London and negroes the equivalent of $100,000, which was refused. The old man died; and the stone remained in the family for several generations, and recently, so runs the story, it came into the possession of Dr. Dougherty, of Mechanicsburg, Penn., whose children are legal heirs. It is claimed to be a diamond of first quality, and weighs 450 carats, while that of the Rajah of Matan (?) said to be the largest in the world, weighs only 367 carats. The stone has been sent away to pass the scrutiny of the ablest scientific men in the country, and the Harrisburg State Guard, which is responsible for the story of which the above is an outline, says "there is reason to believe that America can boast the largest diamond in the world."

The North Pacific Railroad Company sharks who are now waiting through the lobbies of Congress crying for a subsidy of bonds, already have 490,000 square miles of land. It's awful, that Congress will not give them the entire public domain and a mortgage on the nation itself!

What Working Men can do in Texas

NANASOTA, February 6, 1869.

Editors Galveston News:—I frequently see accounts of what white labor can do in Texas. Here is an instance that was accomplished in the county of Grimes: Mr. J. H. Williams, assisted by his son and brother-in-law—lads of 13 years each—and no other help, raised and brought to market twenty bales of cotton, weighing five hundred pounds each off of twenty-one acres of land and sold the cotton for 17 1/2 cents, gold: clear of freight and commissions. In addition to the cotton, raised 200 bushels corn, 600 bushels sweet potatoes and 250 bushels pinders.

I have the above from as reliable men as can be found anywhere. J. K. H.

GOOD THING FOR COLDS & COUGHS IS

Allen's Lung Balsam.

WHAT THE DOCTORS SAY.

Amos Woolly, M. D., of Kosciusko county, Ind. says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively in my practice and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use."

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the remedy to cure all Lung and Throat difficulties. It should be thoroughly tested before using any other Balsam. It will cure when all others fail. Directions accompany each bottle.

THE PEOPLE'S FAVORITE!

Perry Davis' Pain Killer

Has become an article of commerce, which no medicine ever became before. It is as much an item in every bill of goods sent to the country merchants as tea, coffee, or sugar. This speaks volumes in its favor.

The good people should always keep by them a good preparation, and
DAVIS' PAIN KILLER
Is that preparation. Don't be deceived by the many worthless stuffs offered, such as "King of Pains," "Pain Paint," and the like. Davis' Pain Killer is known to be good. Sold by all Druggists.

DR. WHITTIER,

A REGULAR GRADUATE OF MEDICINE,

Spermatorrhea, Sexual Debility and Impotency are the result of self-abuse in youth, sex and in mature years, or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as nocturnal emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, dimness of sight, confusion of ideas, evil forebodings, aversion to society of friends, loss of memory and sexual power, and suffering marriage improper, are permanently cured.

Dr. Whittier publishes a MEDICAL PAMPHLET relating to venereal diseases and the disastrous and varied consequences of self-abuse, that will be sent to any address in a sealed envelope for two stamps. Arkansas History of Gen. Hindman's Assassination.
—Exposé of the Plot—The Daily Times in Jail.
Memphis, March 17.—A prisoner in the Arkansas jail, yesterday disclosed two negro prisoners discussing the assassination of Gen. Hindman. The prisoner informed the jailer, who together with the Marshal took one of them out after charging him with the crime, and sentenced being one of the nine negroes who had formed a conspiracy to assassinate the town of Helena, Arkansas, and to arrange the hanging of a negro in September for rape, that three of the party had gone to Hindman's house for the purpose of burning it, he having prosecuted the negro who was hanging one of the number seeing him sitting by a window, leveled a pistol and fired, killing him. The others becoming frightened, fled and abandoned the plot to burn the town. Five of the nine have been arrested and are now in jail. The authorities are now searching for the others.

Special Correspondent of Baltimore Gazette.
The War Commenced.—The Tenure-of-Office Bill and the Ultra Radicals.—District of President Grant.—Excitement in Political Circles.
Washington, March 16.

The fight was warm, and the question, "Whose fault is it?" That it is a war to the knife and the knife to the hilt is now universally conceded, but who is to blame for the family feud? Many predicted just such a state of things, but no one supposed the rupture would take place so soon. It was argued that quiet would be maintained until the spoils of victory had been parceled out, for even the belligerent spirit of radicalism is capable of waiting its turn, and keeping it warm as long as there is a chance for spoils and plunder. But so full of spleen and hate are some of the radical leaders that they have precipitated the contest of factions, and we are already in the midst of war.

The Civil Office-Tenure bill is made the pretext for strife among professing friends, and the resolution reported by Senator Trumbull, providing for a suspension of the act until the meeting of the next Congress, led to a most significant debate in the Senate to-day, in which Mr. Morton declared that the proposition meant distrust, and the purpose was to put President Grant on probation or on trial, and so declare to the country. Senator Morton preferred that the law should stand as it was than to have passed a resolution reflecting so offensively upon the Chief Magistrate of the nation.

Such is the view taken by the President's friends of the war now commenced upon the new administration, and in which the enemies of bitter strife will be befuddled as the spoils begin to exude. But little is discussed or hidden in political and official circles to-night but the open breach in the radical ranks, and the Democrats declare that they have nothing to do, but to remain quiet, but not altogether disinterested, spectators of the scene.

The Disposition of the Valley Spirit.—The editor of the Valley Spirit, of Chambersburg, Penn., has recently spent some time in South and North Carolina, and witnessed the vengeful destruction by Sherman and his hordes, in his march through those States. He thus speaks of the appalling and sickening scenes of devastation which met his eye:

"We crossed the track of Sherman's army on our route from Charlotte to Columbia. No guide was needed to point out to us the ground over which the army passed. Tall, blackened chimneys stood like grim sentinels over the ruins of the cities. The smoke of the war had set them there to warn the former occupants never to return. Though voiceless, these chimneys, from which once curled the smoke of happy households, spoke trumpet tongue, and woe to those against whom they speak. If (Chambersburg in her ashes looked like the crater of hell, this track of Sherman's looked like the station over which the blazing wheels of Stanton's trillies had rolled, consuming all that came in their way. For two hours we ran through these blackened monuments of our country's shame. I pity the Northern man who can look on them with complacency."

The Dogus Petre.—The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says:
"It is of no use for President Grant, any more than for the rest of us, to yearn for the happy consummation of a cemented Union, so long as the Senate and House overflow with malice and all uncharitableness towards a majority of Southern ex-rebels, who wish to be restored to their old relations. It will be only a mockery to offer prayers to God for His aid in this respect, so long as the nation tolerates a majority of men in Congress who are at war with the first principles of Christianity in its application to this earthly life—the forgiveness of offenses and the exercise of love towards our neighbors."

About sixteen hundred miles of the cable to be laid between France and America, have been completed, and six hundred of them are already on board the Great Eastern. The whole will be ready by June next.

Col. Stockton of Pennsylvania, has arrived at St. Marks, Florida, from the camp of Cuban insurgents, with advice from the Supreme Junta signed by Gen. Cespedes, asking recognition and giving numerous reasons therefor.

So deeply fixed in the human constitution is the sense of disgust, which we feel at the sight of the most repulsive of species, that in one of the most extraordinary instances of the power of the mind, we have only to say, that he is in bad order, and we have fully conveyed our meaning to the most ordinary capacity. Here, too, is a fact which shows the necessity for some mental reservation, and that which is accomplished in the physical domain by the disfiguring effects of the disease of the skin.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 14th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows: to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county."

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act: I therefore recall and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designation to remain in force as in my opinion, the editor of said Jacksonville Republican conducts and publishes the same within the provisions of said act.

From the Banner of the South
Widowed.
By Oswald.

Angel of innocence!
Picture of health!
Sleep on my little one—
All mother's wealth!

Sleep well, my darling one!
Rest while you may;
Mother is watching you,
Trying to pray.

Praying for fertility,
—Conceive to bear,
Well with this heart rendering,
Well with this care.

On thy clam gentle face,
Imagined to live;
He, who was all to me,
Living might give.

Father is sleeping son,
Father is gone,
Lying so chilly now,
Shrouded alone!

Love beyond measurement,
Mindful and true,
All are now torn from me,
Still in my youth!

Rest, rest, baby boy!
Mother will weep,
Heart-broken and true,
While you're asleep.

The Snows in Canada.

MONTREAL, March 12.—A heavy snow storm and raging wind prevailed yesterday. No trains have started from or arrived here for two days. Four trains from New York are blocked at St. Johns. The passengers are well supplied with provisions and fuel. Two gentlemen got through by sleighs yesterday. The eastern trains are about thirty miles away, and there is no probability of their being extricated before Saturday. The ice roads on the river are impassable. Some men tried to cross yesterday, but had to abandon their teams. There is eight feet of level snow on the track for a stretch of twenty-four miles. Trains over the Arthabaska branch of railways have discontinued running till April.

QUENEC, March 12.—A terrific snow storm prevailed here. Three men were found dead in the snow drifts to day, near this city. They tried to travel on foot yesterday.

POINT LEVEE, March 12.—An avalanche of snow fell from the cliffs on a house containing fifteen persons, four of whom were crushed to death.

The fall of snow this winter in Canada, shows an increase of 3,877 inches over the mean twenty years. The entire amount, if it had lain as it fell, would have been about ten feet. At the present time, the snow lies about 18 inches.

A negro woman near Macon, Georgia, on last Monday, killed a poor white girl for the purpose of robbing her of three dollars, which she had in her possession. They were out getting pine wood to sell in the city and the negro knocked her in the head with the axe, frightfully breaking her skull and killing her almost instantly. Will the reconstruction committee at Washington make a note of this Ku Klux outrage.

German papers state that the whole tract on which the city of St. Petersburg is built is sinking slowly, but with fearful regularity, and that at the present rate it will be wholly submerged in fifty years. It is added that the Russian Government is taking steps to remove the court to some other city.

LAND SALES AT THE SOUTH.—There is quite an active business in real estate at the South this Spring. Farms in Virginia are changing hands constantly, the purchasers generally being men who propose to cultivate for themselves. The same is true in South Carolina and other States at the South, and very good prices are realized by the sellers. At a recent auction sale in Kershaw district, South Carolina, a tract of six thousand acres was divided up into small lots and sold on liberal terms, and a good many free men were among the bidders and purchasers. The prices were fully as high as would have been obtained before the war. In North Carolina a tract of 20,000 acres, which was in the market at fifty cents per acre before the war, was lately sold to a German colony for a settlement at $1.50 per acre. The small farm system will soon be very generally introduced in the Southern States, and it will be a great improvement over the old plan of plantations with hundreds and thousands of acres of unimproved lands.—Baltimore Sun.

The Herald's Washington correspondent says it was the treasury right not the law, of 1789 that ruled out Stewart. That law, the correspondent says, has been a dead letter on the books for years. It provides that the Secretary of the Treasury shall not purchase public lands or public securities, and yet the official records show that Secretary McCulloch, since he took the office, purchased 7,010 acres of public lands. The correspondent insists that were it not for the weakness of some of the President's friends, who quailed before the clamor of Mr. Stewart, two thirds of Congress would have willingly voted for the repeal of the law, which has become obsolete and useless.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

GOOD THING FOR COLDS & COUGHS IS

Allen's Lung Balm.

WHAT THE DOCTORS SAY.

Amos Woolly, M.D., of Kosciusko county, Ind., says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALM extensively in my practice and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use." ALLEN'S LUNG BALM is the remedy to cure all Lung and Throat difficulties. It should be thoroughly tested before using any other balm. It will cure when all others fail. Directions accompany each bottle.

THE PEOPLE'S FAVORITE

Perry Davis' Pain Killer

Has become an article of commerce, which no medicine ever became before. It is as much an item in every family of goods sent to the country merchants as tea, coffee, or sugar. This speaks volumes in its favor. The good people should always keep by them a good preparation, and is that preparation. Do not be deceived by the many worthless pills offered, such as "King of Pains," "Pain Balm," and the like. Davis' Pain Killer is known to be good. Sold by all Druggists.

THE LIVER.

THE symptoms of LIVER COMPLAINT, are—headaches and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general constive, sometimes alternating with laxity. The head is troubled with pain and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with pain in the back of the head, and sometimes with a feeling of heat in the face. When the liver is diseased, it is generally the organ most involved. Cure the Liver with Simmons' Regulator and all will be well.
